

Monks & Saints: Blended Viewpoint in the Construction of Selves

written by Diegesis In Mind | 1. September 2023

Eve Sweetser hosts an interview with Historian Line Cecile Engh and Cognitive Scientist Mark Turner on their research about how vivid physical metaphors in medieval monastic training manuals helped novices to form “blended selves” that shaped their identity as monks and as persons.